Chiropractic Treatment Okay

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Workmen's Compensation Commission said Wednesday that chiropractic treatment for an injured employee is compensable under Arkansas law. The commissioners said the state requires certain academic standards of chiropractors before licenses are issued and the state Board of Chiropractic Examiners is among the healing arts boards recognized by law as a "medical examining board."

Further, the commission noted that the law doesn't limit "medical" services to those rendered by what may popularly be referred to as physicians.

Peace Corps Changes Way of Training

By TOM SEPPY
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps, now in its fifth year, has slowly changed the training methods it uses to prepare volunteers for duty in foreign countries.

Gradually, the corps has shifted training from the Ivy-covered lecture halls of the nation's university campuses to the slum areas of the large cities, onto the Indian reservations of the Southwest and West and into the poverty pockets of Appalachia.

Volunteer trainees also are entering camps such as one in the Florida Keys which is to be similar to what the volunteers will find in the South Seas.

Or, like the Pennsylvania camp at Shawnee on Delaware — some two hours from Philadelphia — where a market place and a temple have been built to give the trainee a touch of the atmosphere of a small village in India.

Other volunteers are being sent overseas immediately to the country in which they will undergo on-the-job training.

"We're just trying to give them something new and different. A new change of life for most of them," said Brent Ashabramner, director of the Peace Corps Division of University Relations and Training.

"We found that lecture halls and tile showers are detrimental to volunteers who will be working in underdeveloped areas."

Ashabramner emphasized that universities — and recently private industry — are running the training programs. They have just moved them from the campus to the field.

The Peace Corps now has 12,300 volunteers serving in 46 nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America. On Aug. 16, Sally Poland of Louisville, Ky., became the 10,000th volunteer to complete service overseas when she returned from Turkey.

Some 7,500 men and women are now in training programs which began in late June and early July and run through September. It is the largest number of trainees to sign up for any one period.

The summer programs train the volunteers in teaching, community development, health, agriculture and foreign languages.

At least 45 different languages are being taught although the Peace Corps is geared to teach about 55.

Darshan Makes Wheels Go in India

By CONRAD FINK
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Westerners don't understand it and Indians don't really explain it, but "darshan" helps make the wheels go around in India.

That being the case, astute Indian politicians pay plenty of attention to this Hindu phenomenon.

Darshan, roughly translated means obtaining special merit, favor or godliness by touching, speaking to or merely being near a notable person.

As practiced, it means every Indian has a right to personally meet high-ranking officials and present complaints or grievances.

That's where the politics comes in.

Each day, hundreds of Indian petitioners with a wide assortment of problems gather in the streets and gardens outside the homes of national and state officials, who welcome this exposure to voters.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, though busy with affairs of state, sets aside a period each morning to grant darshan in the garden of her home.

A tent-like "shamiana" is erected to ward off monsoon rain showers. Carpets are laid over the muddy grass, and chairs are put out for the sad and solemn who come.

Mrs. Gandhi's darshan started shortly after 8 a.m. one day, after her personal secretary had screened out obvious cranks and security risks from petitioners standing in the street.

About 25 persons, from babes in arms to aged grandfathers, were waiting as the prime minister came out of the house wearing a brown and green sari. Everyone present jumped to his feet and returned her "namaste" salutation of hands folded before the face in a prayerful attitude.

Mrs. Gandhi can be business-like to the point of brusqueness and she was this morning as she moved down the line, asking a quick question here, accepting a petition there.

A sad-faced young widow of a soldier killed on the China front in 1962 asked the prime minister to overrule a government official who ordered her evicted from army housing.

Mrs. Gandhi turned to a secretary and ordered an investigation.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — French President Charles de Gaulle must like it on President Johnson's back. He keeps climbing up on it, until Johnson brushes him off, which is what just happened again.

Once more De Gaulle came up with a suggestion for ending the war in Viet Nam, and Johnson once more promptly rejected it. In view of his own record and French history, De Gaulle's solicitude for Viet Nam is a little two-faced.

De Gaulle was president after World War II when the Vietnamese, sick of French rule for three-quarters of a century, sought independence. French forces went in to crush them.

The war that followed lasted until 1954 when the French were crushed and driven out.

Last week De Gaulle suggested what he had proposed before, with a little variation. He had made his first suggestion to the President when Johnson had been in the White House less than three months.

At that time — Jan. 31, 1964 — De Gaulle suggested to a huge news conference that all Viet Nam be neutralized, with the cooperation of Red China. Just four days before he had officially recognized the Red Chinese as the legitimate government of China, over American protests.

Johnson held his first presidential news conference the next day, Feb. 1, 1964. His answer to De Gaulle was no. He said the American attitude would be different "if we could expect the Viet Cong to let their neighbors live in peace."

Last Thursday De Gaulle came back to the same theme, taking a dig at the United States along the way by implying this country was an invader.

He said: "There is no chance the people of Asia will subject themselves to the law of the foreigner whatever his interests." Once more he proposed neutralizing the two Viet Nams.

But he added this: Before there could be a neutrality agreement, the United States would have to promise to pull its troops out. He didn't say the North Vietnamese Reds would have to pull their troops out of South Viet Nam. This angered the Johnson administration, in addition to De Gaulle's butting in.

This time the Frenchman tried to be a little more subtle. Instead of saying outright the Red Chinese would have to be a part of any neutrality agreement, he said it obliquely without mentioning Red China by name.

He did it this way: He said the five "world powers" would have to be part of any agreement assuring Viet Nam's neutrality. Red China is certainly one of the big five. Johnson turned down this proposition, too.

The President, on a political trip into the Midwest Labor Day, said American troops would come home "as soon as that vicious aggression stops." He had no reason for wanting Red China involved in keeping peace in Viet Nam.

Just last week the Red Chinese were calling for anti-American uprisings around the world while the United States was involved in Viet Nam, the idea being to weaken the United States until it collapsed.

De Gaulle, who has been skeptical about the reliability of this country in helping an ally, has been a troublesome ally himself. Most recently he badly weakened the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Some of his other antics, which are many and may in the history books cause him to be pictured as an international eccentric:

He rejected American proposals for a multinational NATO nuclear force; complained American nuclear power would remain exclusively under U.S. control; built his own atomic arsenal; slammed the common market door in Britain's face.

Television and Radio

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Three half-hour comedy series had their premiere shows on ABC Tuesday night. About all they had in common was the network — and very loud laugh tracks on two of them.

First there was "The Rounders," a broad Western rib-tickler about two cowboys, their boss and an engaging horse which can sit down on its hind legs. The horse may wind up as the star of the show.

Chill Wills plays a rich ranch owner with a heart in his hand and a "Beverly Hillsbillies" turn of phrase. His victims were the cowboys, played by Ron Hayes and Patrick Wayne, John's son. Wayne's acting was confined to smiling broadly and repeating, "Whatever suits you just tickles me 'plumb to death."

The plot involved some nonsense about trying to sell the sit-down horse to a rodeo as a bucking bronc. Maybe the series will tickle the youngsters in the audience, since a lot of people trip or are thrown into mud puddles.

Then followed "The Pruitts of Southampton," which may just make the residents of Southampton start petitions. The first show was under the handicap of having to introduce a kooky society family and explain how they suddenly discovered they were impoverished. This set the scene for future shows.

Phyllis Diller, in relatively conservative clothes, plays a woman of such sheltered background that she tried to roast a turkey in a washing machine, which also suggests the caliber of the gags.

Third candidate for public approval was "Love on a Rooftop," which has the advantage of two very attractive young people, Judy Carne and Peter Deuel, playing the leads. They portray a young couple trying to live on his $85-a-week salary.

This show, too, was extremely busy setting the situation, getting them married and installed in a windowless flat. Then came a visit from the wife's parents and some stuff about furnishing the place with borrowed furniture.

The stars were vivacious and convincing. The settings were handsome, including some stunning shots of San Francisco. But the writing has a way to go. In an extraordinary exercise of programming judgment, the network preceded the three new shows with an hour-long cartoon show called "King Kong."

Unlike the old Kong of the horror film, the cartoon ape is enormous but friendly and lovable. His best friend is a boy about one third the size of one of the ape's fingers. The show will appear in half-hour form on Saturdays this season.

The first night of ABC's "Advance Premieres" failed to add up to much entertainment. Maybe things will improve as the week continues.

Tonight the network launches "The Monroes," at 8 p.m. EDT, an hour show about five orphans, the oldest 18, and their adventures in the Wyoming territory of the post-Civil War period. It will be followed from 9:30 by "The Man Who Never Was," a series about a World War II spy for the United States who assumes the identity of a rich playboy. Robert Lansing plays the lead in the series filmed in Europe. At 10 p.m., there will be an hour-long special, "The Fine Art of Football Watching."

Baltic's Salt

The salt content of the Baltic Sea is one of the lowest in the world, due to the fact that it receives the drainage of a land area more than four times as great as its own, including river basins such as the Vistula and the Oder.

SINS OF SISTER MAKE IT TOUGH FOR HER

Dear Helen: My sister is two years older than me. She started dating when she was 13 and going steady when she was 14. She fought with my mom and us kids — not just fussing; sometimes she caused bruises and cuts. My Mom and Dad are separated and Mom couldn't do anything with her.

When she was 16, she dropped out of school. At 17, she ran away with a 23-year-old "man" for three weeks and finally married him. They live with his grandmother, who supports them. He beats her and goes out with old women and gets drunk all the time. He's an alcoholic.

Well, now you see my sister has made many mistakes and this has made my mother very sad and disappointed. I don't intend to follow her actions. I try not to make Mom mad. I'm 16. Two years ago, she let me date, but she is getting stricter all the time. She thinks I'll do the same as my sister.

If I talk on the phone more than five minutes, she thinks I am going to elope with the boy, and when I get a date she won't let me keep it. She insists that my 10-year-old sister go with me to shows and shopping because she thinks I'll meet boys.

Helen, I don't want to sneak out, but I need to have fun like other girls do. I plan to go to college. I get straight A's and B's in school and I keep up with my responsibilities at home. I've done everything possible to show her that wildness does not run in the family.

What else can I do? — Sensible Date Seeker

Dear SDS: You write an exceptionally fine letter. Why not write one to your mother? Sometimes a letter does much more than argument to clear the air and make frightened mothers see straight. Try it and see. — H.

THE DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Antismoking Medications Limited in Effectiveness
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—Is there any medicine I can take to help me quit smoking?

A—Lozenges that contain lobeline have been widely recommended. Many over-the-counter brands are available but they are not an unmixed blessing. Because they produce an effect similar to that of nicotine, persons who take these lozenges must stop smoking completely or they will get acute nicotine poisoning. The lozenges should never be taken by pregnant women or persons with peptic ulcers. The chief drawback to this line of treatment is the high relapse rate.

Q—Why would a doctor advise a woman to stop smoking entirely during her pregnancy?

A—Authorities now believe that smoking less than 20 cigarettes a day will not hurt the baby, but the babies of mothers who smoke more than a pack a day are at some risk of being born prematurely. Many doctors, with some justification, advise all their patients, both men and women, to give up smoking entirely because of the difficulty of observing moderation and because even moderate smoking, continued over three or four decades, is likely to impair one's health.

Q—My girl friend is 15 and has started smoking. She has noticed difficulty in breathing, headaches and upset stomach. Would smoking cause these symptoms?

A—Smoking may irritate the respiratory tract and reflexly cause nausea, especially in beginners. These symptoms in some youngsters are enough to discourage them from ever getting the habit.

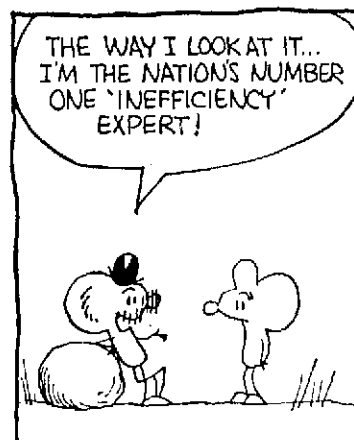

Q—A friend has porphyria. How does it affect one? Is it curable?

A—When excessive amounts of a purple pigment called porphyrin are produced, either in the bone marrow or in the liver, porphyria results. This may be hereditary or it may be caused by a wide variety of drugs. The victim may suffer with abdominal cramps constipation and weakness. Even slight exposure to the sun may result in severe sunburn.

If a drug is the cause, withdrawing it usually cures the disease. Although there is no cure for the hereditary type, much can be done to relieve the symptoms. The victim must avoid alcohol, barbiturates and the direct rays of the sun. Bleeding to remove excess iron from the system sometimes helps. Cosmetic sun-screens are useless unless they are opaque and are not washed off while swimming.

Recent studies indicate that sex hormones (androgens and estrogens) give a high degree of relief in persons with this disease.

Benjamin Franklin was the first to suggest the use of airborne troops in combat. As early as 1784 he foresaw the use of soldiers "entering from the sky." First use of paratroopers in combat did not occur until the Russians used them in their war with Finland in the 1930s. The largest airborne assault in history occurred in 1945 when U.S. forces dropped more than 17,000 paratroopers in two hours in Germany.

West opened the king of spades and shifted to the queen of trumps. South popped his king on the queen, cashed his ace and started on the diamond suit. He managed to discard one spade on the third diamond but West ruffed in at that point and proceeded to set South with two more spade tricks.

South proceeded to criticize North's raise to three hearts. South pointed out that North had shown at least 10 or 11 points when he bid two diamonds and that 11 points did not warrant the raise with only two trumps. North pointed out that South had gone right on to game with his own 11 high card point opening and that, in any event, the game contract would have made if West had started with three or more diamonds.

We aren't going to get involved in the merit or lack of it in North's three-heart bid. It wasn't the best raise ever given but it did have some merit. It is the sort of raise we give or withhold depending on how we feel about conditions in general at the time. As for South's rebid to four hearts we are all for it. He held a strong distributional hand and his partner had given him a delayed raise.

The partners failed to discuss the one real point of interest which is that South should have made his contract.

He had to lose a trump trick sometime. Why not right away while he still could keep a trump in dummy to guard against the spade suit? That way he would even make an overtrick unless West took his second spade right away.

Yanks Now Occupy the Loop Cellar

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Now Ralph Houk knows how Frank Chance felt 53 years ago. Chance, a Hall of Famer who starred at first base for the Chicago Cubs, managed the New York Yankees in 1913 when they were in last place on the next-to-last day of the season.

Today, Houk's Yankees occupy the American League cellar for the first time in September since that day in 1913.

Houk undoubtedly hopes things turn out as well for him as they did for Chance — the 1913 Yankees came on to win on the final day and finish seventh in an eight-team league.

New York hasn't finished last since 1912.

The Yankees, winners of 29 pennants and 20 World Series, plunged into the basement Wednesday night by losing 3-2 to league-leading Baltimore while Boston was edging Cleveland 5-4 and Kansas City was beating California 6-3.

The loss left the Yankees 28½ games off the pace, a game back of Kansas City and one-half game behind ninth-place Boston.

In other AL games Wednesday, Minnesota nipped Chicago 6-4 and Detroit downed Washington 4-0.

Atlanta trounced Pittsburgh 8-3, St. Louis nipped Houston 6-5 and San Francisco edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings in the only National League action.

As last-place teams have a habit of doing, the Yankees lost their game the hard way — Baltimore scoring the winning run in the eighth inning without getting a hit.

The Orioles loaded the bases on a walk, a sacrifice-felder choice on which pitcher Mel Sotolomey failed to throw out the man at second and an intentional walk to Frank Robinson.

Brooks Robinson then hit a hard grounder to third base which Cleve Boyer bobbled and then attempted to get a double play instead of going to the plate for a force out.

Boston erupted for four runs in the sixth in beating Cleveland. Jose Tartabull's bases-loaded single brought home the first run and broke a 1-1 tie.

Danny Cater was the big man in Kansas City's victory. He doubled home a run in the first and singled home a pair in the seventh. Jack Aker picked up his 24th save for the Athletics, stopping a threat after California loaded the bases in the sixth.

Earl Wilson gained his ninth straight victory and 18th of the season against nine losses for Detroit by limiting Washington to three hits.

Practice Starts for Akron Open

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Practice rounds get under way Friday in the $77,500 fifth World Series of Golf at Akron's Firestone Country Club. Thirty-six holes of medal competition follow Saturday and Sunday.

Masters and British Open champion Jack Nicklaus seems to be the man to beat, judging from past performances on the par 70, 7,180-yard course. But Al Geiberger, a slim Californian, is expected to give Nicklaus a run for the $50,000 first-prize money.

Geiberger, who likes to fortify his game with peanut butter and jelly sandwiches he carries in his bag, has picked up $45,000 in prize money during his last two visits to Firestone.

It will be the fourth World Series for Nicklaus, who won the first and finished second to Gary Player last year. His five-under-par score of 137 in the 1962 inaugural still is the low total for the 36-hole event.

Geiberger, who will be playing his first series, started winning last just 13 months ago when he took the $20,000 first prize in the American Golf Classic. Last July, he added another $25,000 by winning the PGA tourney.

Heading out the Big Four are U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, and Gene Littler, winner of the Canadian Open.

Namath Just a Soph on the Bench

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe Namath, the New York Jets' $400,000 quarterback, was the American Football League's Rookie-of-the-Year in 1965, but Friday he might only be sophomore on the bench.

Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank says Namath is "physically able and ready to play," but adds that "it's a toss-up who will start against the Miami Dolphins — Joe or Mike Taliaferro."

It is not that Namath has not been on target. Ewbank said both players have looked good in practice this week.

But how do you tell Taliaferro, who directed the Jets through an unbeaten exhibition season after Namath injured his knee in the first quarter of the first game, that he is not starting?

The new Dolphins, looking for their first victory after five exhibition losses and a near miss loss to Oakland in their opener last week, were not taking any chances. They prepared for Namath or Taliaferro.

"We know both are good passers," Coach George Wilson said, "and that Taliaferro has led them to four straight victories."

Fans around the country will see the battle on national television at 7:30 p.m., EDT.

The National Football League opens its season this weekend and the first game is a dandy, pitting defending Western Division champion Baltimore against Green Bay, picked by many to unseat the Colts this season. That game in Milwaukee also will be nationally televised.

The rest of the NFL schedule will be played Sunday. Only Dallas has the weekend off. Cleveland plays at Washington, Los Angeles at Atlanta, Chicago at Detroit, Minnesota at San Francisco, New York at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at St. Louis.

The AFL has Oakland at Houston and Boston at San Diego on Saturday night and Kansas City at Buffalo on national television Sunday.

In pro football action Wednesday, fullback Nick Pietrosante, cut loose Monday by the Detroit Lions, said he expects to sign with another club within three days.

He said two NFL teams and three AFL teams had contacted him. He declined to name them, but Denver of the AFL said it was bidding for his services.

Veteran quarterback George Izo, released by Detroit with Pietrosante, was working out with Pittsburgh. The Steelers got down to the 40-player limit by cutting Steve Barnett, a guard from Stanford.

St. Louis trimmed two veterans, Chuck Logan, a tight end, and guard Jim Battle.

One American Survivor at Forest Hills

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — The lone American man in the National Tennis Championships today — and perhaps the proudest — is the 24-year-old son of a Cleveland doctor, Clark Graebner.

He's the lone American in a batch of invaders — five Australians, a Spaniard and an Englishman — who square off in matches, quarter-final matches today and Friday.

I'm glad I am, but, gee, I'm not sure other guys had to have a doctor said after he had survived a two-hour duel with England's Graham Stilwell 6-1, 6-0, 6-3, 7-5.

The 24-year-old Graebner, who for years has been labeled strictly a doubles player and is ranked 13th nationally, now becomes a key man in the United States' push for recovering the Davis Cup — a bleak prospect.

The nation's No. 1 player, tennis star Arthur Ashe, lost in straight sets to the Canadian Open.

Bobcats Glad First Game Is Behind

By Coach Freddie Glaze

The 1966 football season is officially underway and popular quotation among coaches might be: "Thank goodness for a second week of the season." What we all mean is that the first and most dreaded game is behind and maybe a football team can settle down and get to work.

Season openers cause a multitude of problems. Opposing coaches really have no way of knowing if a ball club has changed its offense or defense that was used the previous season since high school have no spring football practice. Another problem, of course, is personnel changes and its effect. Coaching changes never help matters either.

As for as we were concerned all of the above factors affected our preparation for the Arkadelphia game. We felt all along that the Badgers should be improved club and with 12 starting seniors there was proof Friday night.

After viewing the film and having a squad meet Saturday the boys were very disappointed at the mistakes they made. Of course, there is a fine attitude because with this attitude we felt like we have something to work for and must accomplish before our encounter with Prescott.

Defensively our film revealed weaknesses we expected. We also had a few surprises. The Butcher squad, as we call our first defensive unit, played a good ball game but even though they yield no points, felt as if they made too many mistakes.

Statistically, Arkadelphia ran 30 running plays, gaining 67 yards and passed 16 times, completing two for 23.

Leading our defense was Dennis Turner who as our noseman compiled a high score of 30 points which included two of our four fumble recoveries. Linebacker, Freddie Easterling and defense end Luther Shaw also showed up well.

Offensively our line opened up some big holes but were inconsistent. Generally speaking all of our backs ran hard but all were displeased with their own effort.

Dennis Turner led rushing with 12 for 45; Buzz Andrews showed a lot of poise as a junior quarterback.

Look forward to seeing you at Prescott Friday night, Gametime 7:30.

Four Teams Get Ticket Green Light

NEW YORK (AP) — Four major league teams had the green light today to print tickets for the World Series, which, barring a playoff, will open in a National League city Wednesday, Oct. 5.

Commissioner William Eckert said Wednesday he had authorized American League-leading Baltimore and the three top National League contenders — Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and San Francisco — to print 1966 Series tickets.

In the past, teams located as close together as Baltimore and Pittsburgh played in the Series, there were no open dates.

However, Eckert said this year there will be a day off for travel "for the convenience of the players, as well as the fans, regardless of the teams or the cities involved."

He also said that in the event of a playoff there would be an open date between the end of the playoff and the start of the Series.

In case of a best-of-3 playoff, it would start the day after the regular season ends.

The series would move to the American League city Saturday, Oct. 8, Sunday, Oct. 9 and Monday, Oct. 10, if necessary. If it goes beyond that point, play would resume in the National League city Wednesday, Oct. 12, and continue Thursday, Oct. 13, if necessary.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Conference championships are seldom settled on the second playing date of a season but such will likely be the case Friday night when Sheridan entertains Morrilton.

Sheridan has swept to two straight Region III-AA East titles and should take a giant stride toward a third crown against Morrilton, last year's runner-up. Sheridan 20-14.

Ranking will be the main item at stake in three of the other big games around the state this week, matching North Little Rock and Harrison, Fort Smith Northside and Fayetteville, and Little Rock Hall and Little Rock Catholic.

Hall and Catholic collide tonight in the season opener for both teams. The Rockets have given their Class AAA foes rugged battles in recent years and this one should prove to be the same. Little 13-7.

North Little Rock hopes to protect its No. 1 ranking against Class AA Harrison. The Gobblins, expecting one of their finest teams ever, were upset by Forrest City last week. They may have been looking ahead to the Wildcats, but Ken Stephens' crew is a little too tough. North Little Rock 20-7.

Northside pounded a solid Class AA power, Van Buren, last week and is ready to strengthen its grip on second place in the Associated Press rankings. Fayetteville has this one at home, but everything else favors Northside. Northside 21-6.

The first week's effort produced a 10-6-2 for a .740 percentage.

China Aims at Sapping U.S. Strength

WASHINGTON (AP) —

The Red Chinese are proposing endless wars with the United States around the world in coming years to "nibble" it to death.

The United States, taking 30 Chinese as earnest, accepts the challenge although it may be only bombast since the Chinese are still in the process of trying to develop nuclear weapons.

President Johnson and his top aides have promised to help any country against outside aggression. The Chinese call for end less wars — so-called "wars of liberation" — is aimed at trying to sap this country's strength until it crumbles.

The two views, pulled together from a number of statements spread over a year, gives the picture:

Last Sept. 9 Marshal Lin Biao, Chinese defense minister and heir-apparent to Mao Tse-tung, urged revolutionary wars by all the "oppressed nations" in Asia, Africa, Latin America.

He called for "revolutionary bases" in rural areas to "encircle the cities." He explained that by cities he meant North America and Western Europe and by rural areas Asia, Africa, Latin America.

His strategy was simple, as he explained it: Constant outbreaks would weaken the United States; when it became hard pressed in one place, it would have to loosen its grip somewhere else. But he seemed to be talking of the future.

The Red Chinese stepped up the pace Aug. 30 when their Communist party paper, the People's Daily, called for anti-American uprisings around the world while U.S. troops are involved in Viet Nam.

The one thing wrong with this call to other countries to start wars: the Red Chinese don't have enough influence right now to get such wars started very widely. They have suffered repeated disasters in their foreign relations.

On that same day, but by coincidence since he hadn't seen what the People's Daily said, Johnson denounced "wars of liberation" although indicating he did not take the Chinese lightly.

He said they had described the war in Viet Nam in unmistakable terms: "It is meant to be the opening salvo in a series of bombardments. . . and if it succeeds in Viet Nam, it will be tried elsewhere."

But then, meeting the challenge, he added: "If our might is needed to help" other people defend themselves against aggression supported from without, it will be there.

He said this five days after Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara gave a Senate committee assurances U.S. military strength would not suffer because of worldwide American defense commitments.

McNamara said this country is better prepared to fulfill those commitments than at any time in recent years. The United States has defense pacts with more than 40 nations.

MAKING OVER MOSCOW into a modern city capable of housing an ever-expanding population, Soviet builders are filling the surrounding countryside with new housing developments resembling those that have been mushrooming around major western cities. This nearly completed apartment project in the city's southwestern districts will provide homes for some 55,000 Muscovites. In the background are the skyscraper towers of Moscow University.

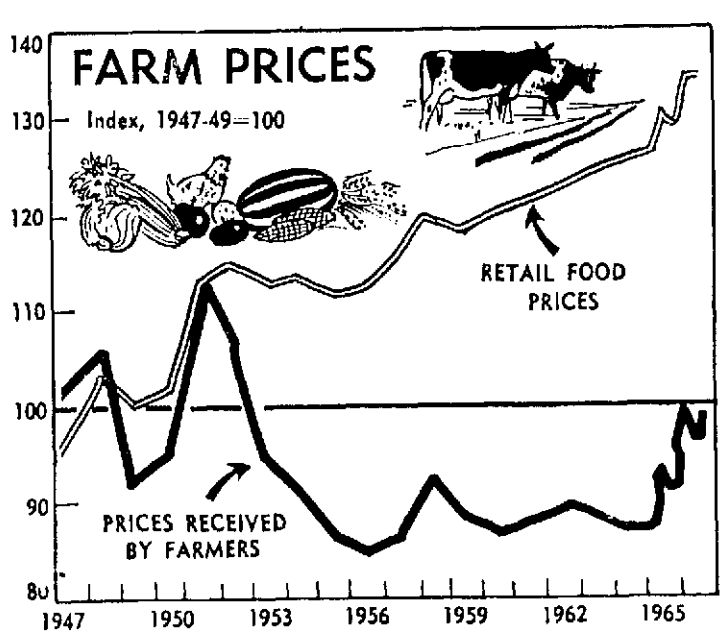

LOADED FOR MARKET, a Cham woman in South Viet Nam balances a huge basket of clay cooking pots on her head. The Cham people are the remnant of a civilization that flourished along the central Vietnamese coast five centuries ago.

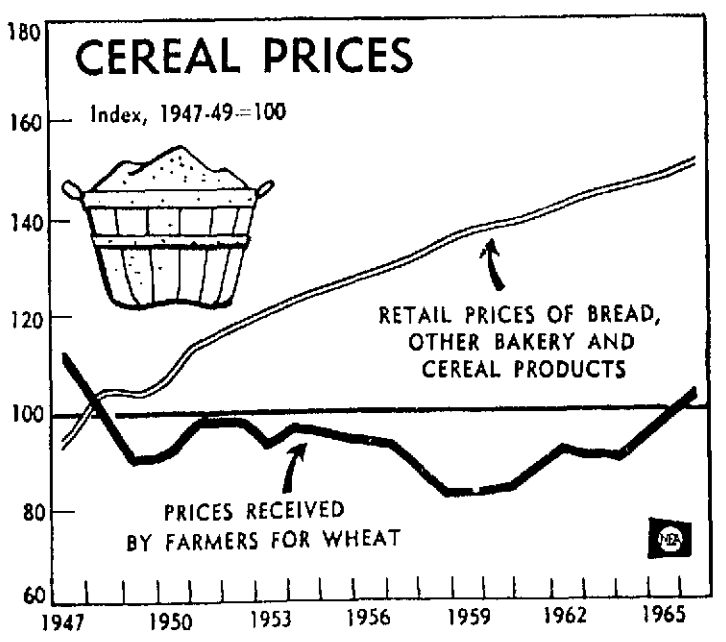

THE OLD WAYS linger on in much of the world despite the advance of technology and mass production. This isn't laundry day in a nursery but the drying room of an ancient paper mill at Jeziorna, Poland, near Warsaw, where fine, handmade paper is still turned out as in bygone centuries, sheet by sheet and dried on lines in the fresh air. There's still a demand for the delicate sheets, so the plant produces a few pounds a day in addition to masses of mechanically produced paper.

WHO'S HIKING FOOD PRICES?

It's the burning question these days for the grocery-buying housewife and the vote-seeking politician as well. Congress has stepped in to determine into what pockets the increases are going as the tab at the checkout counter mounts for most basic commodities. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman says it is not the farmer's pocket. The charts below are based on statistics made public by Freeman. They may be used together as a layout or singly as desired.

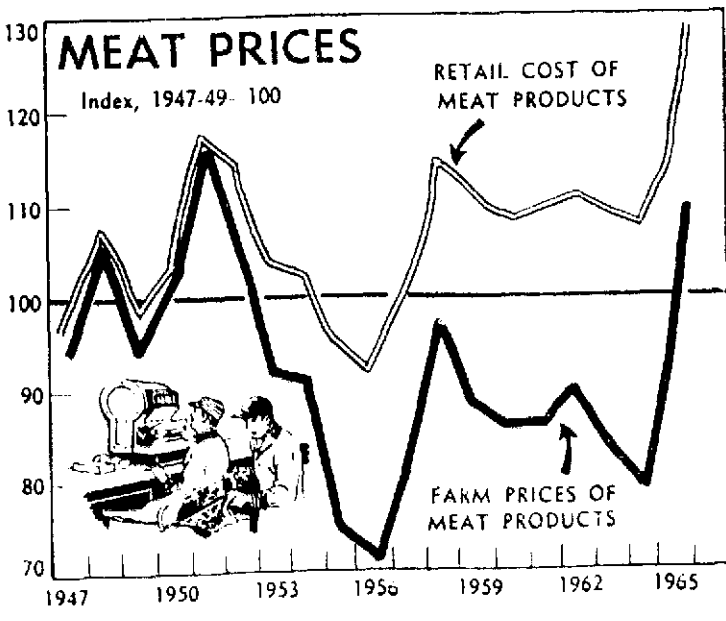

The Agriculture Department has absolved the nation's farmers of responsibility for recent sharp increases in food prices. According to department statistics, over-all farm prices have consistently lagged behind rising retail food prices since the early 1950s.

Prices received by farmers for wheat have been below the base price since it was set in 1947-49 until just recently, but the retail price of wheat products has been rising steadily throughout the period, according to Agriculture Department figures.

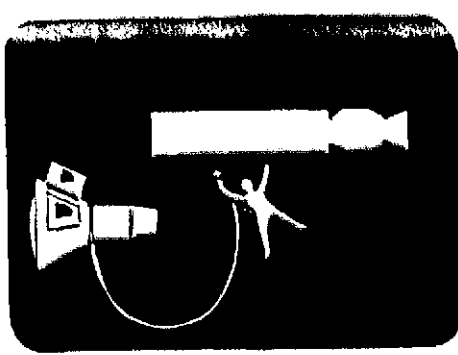

Retail and farm prices for dairy products were closely aligned until 1953. Prices received by farmers then dropped off sharply but consumer prices leveled off and began a steady climb upward. Agriculture Department figures show Agriculture Department statistics show sharpest ups and downs in both retail and farm prices have been registered by meat products. Retail prices have directly reflected farm prices but at a considerably higher level for more than a decade.

Flight plan calls for launch of Gemini capsule exactly 97 minutes, 11 seconds after Agena target vehicle to achieve rendezvous on first orbit, never before tried.

Astronaut Richard Gordon begins 107-minute spacewalk 24 hours after launch, attaching 100-foot tether to docked capsule and Agena and performing extra-vehicular experiments.

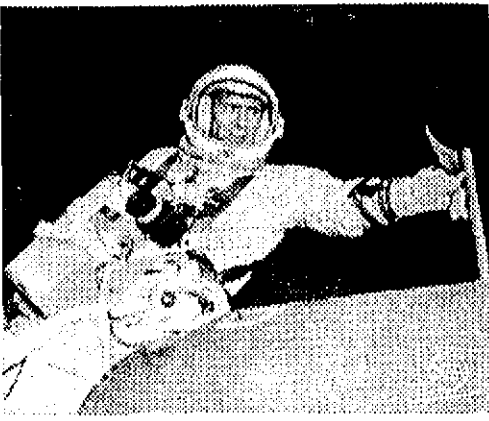

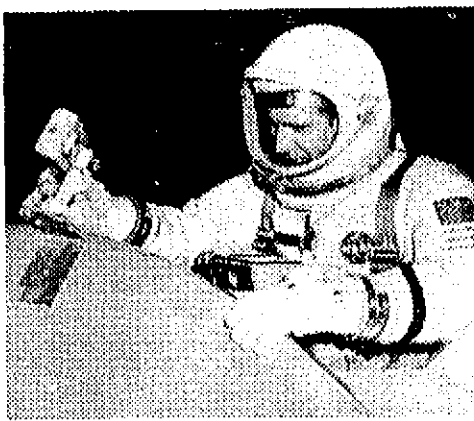

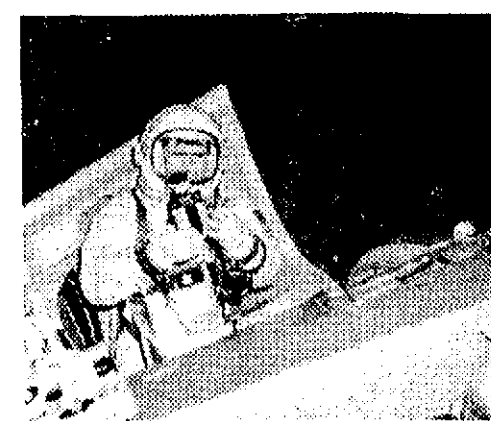

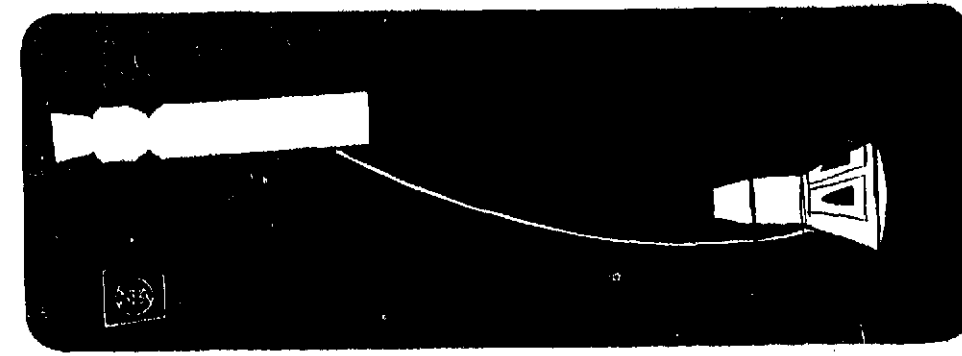

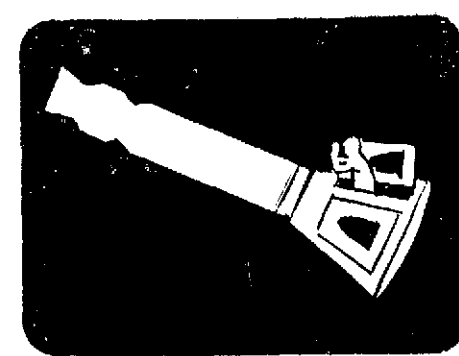

Some 40 hours after launch astronauts will turn on Agena 16,000-pound-thrust engine to shoot for new altitude record of 865 miles, double set by Gemini-10 in July.

GEMINI ELEVEN

After return to 185-mile circular orbit, Gordon will stand up in open hatch for 140-minute "space stand" to carry out series of photographic experiments.

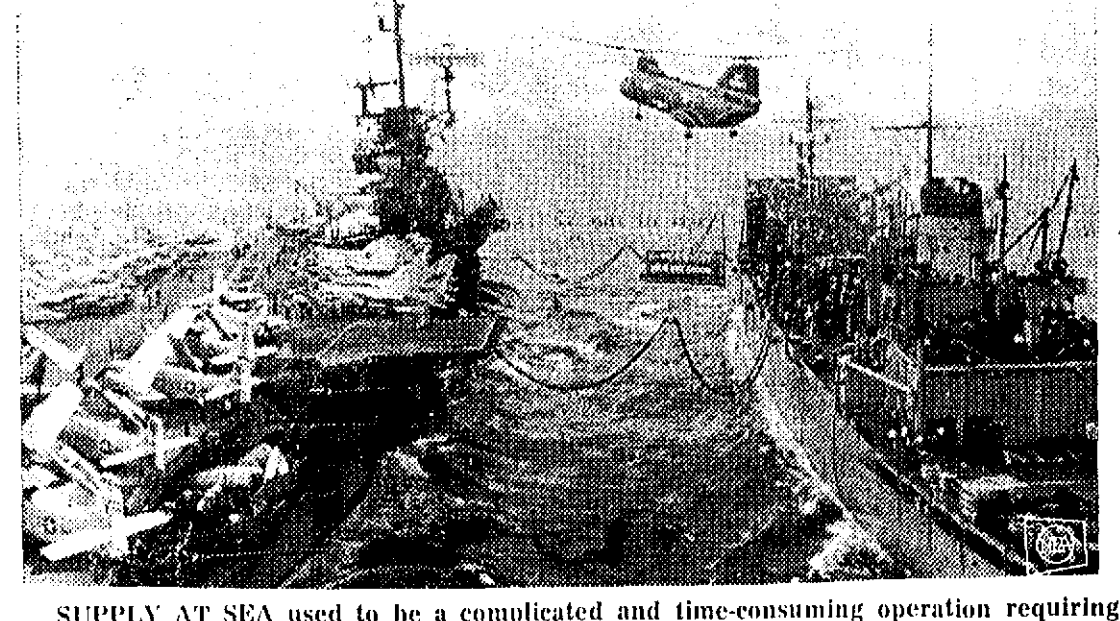

Gemini capsule will separate from Agena and back off to 100-foot length of connecting tether to see if satellites can maintain relative positions with difference in gravitational pull. Discarding tether, astronauts will make first re-entry under automatic control to Atlantic splashdown 725 miles east of Cape Kennedy.

SUPPLY AT SEA used to be a complicated and time-consuming operation requiring a warship and its support vessel to cruise slowly side-by-side for hours as supplies were transferred by lines. Now, the bulk of the heavy work is being taken over by helicopters, which fly material between ships in a fraction of the time while ships maintain regular speed. Above, the carrier Hancock takes on fuel through hoses from the supply ship USS Sacramento while a Ch-46 copter speedily transfers aircraft fuel tanks overhead.

Family Foods Need Enrichment

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although bread costs a little more today, it is still an important family food. Important B vitamins and iron necessary to prevent anemia have been added to most of the bread, flour and cereal in our markets today.

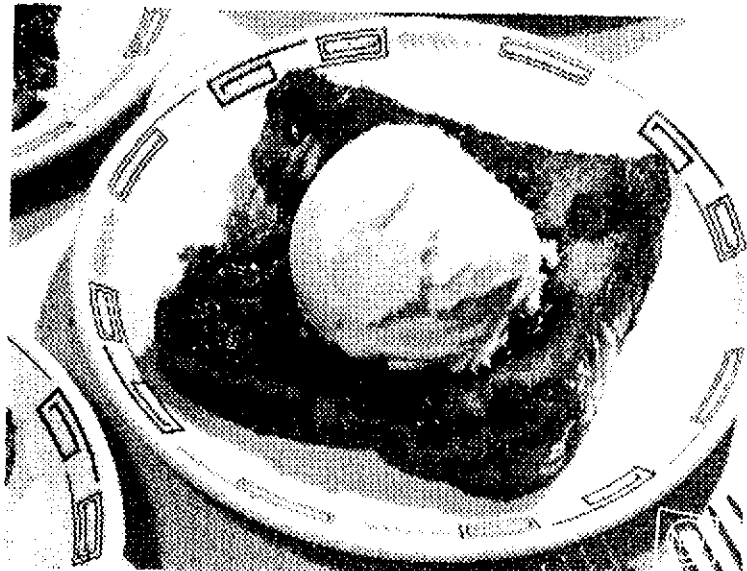

Here are two family sweets with the extra food value of enriched bread.

CARAMEL PECAN OVEN FRENCH TOAST

(Serves 4)
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons chopped pecans

1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup milk
4 slices enriched bread

Combine butter, brown sugar and pecans in the bottom of an ungreased (9-inch) square pan. Combine beaten egg and milk in a shallow bowl. Dip bread into egg-milk mixture, turning to coat both sides of bread. Place bread over sugar mixture. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) for 20 minutes. Let bread stand in pan 1 minute after removing from oven. Invert pan to remove bread so that carame-

APRICOT BREAD PUDDING

(Serves 6)

4 slices enriched bread
2 teaspoons butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups (or 1 1/2 can) apricot halves
3 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup apricot juice
3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon lemon extract

Trim crusts from bread. Spread 1/2 teaspoon butter on each slice of bread and cut into quarters. Alternate layers of bread and apricots in a greased (1 quart) casserole. Beat eggs and combine with milk, apricot juice and lemon extract. Pour over bread and apricots. Sprinkle coconut over apricots on top layer of casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes.

Fall Daytime Fashions

by Helen Hennessy
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Except for a few calf-length hemlines thrown in by Jacques Tiffeneau (perhaps as a prophecy for next spring) the current New York fall fashion collections have established the fact of the short skirt for fall.

Everything is to the knee or higher, but the kooky styles have vanished. The designers seem to be aware at long last that op-art and peep-holes aren't for the majority. There is a marked return to classic elegance in styling, with a more effective use of color than in many a past season.

The costume hasn't quite relegated the suit to fashion's limbo—but almost. Judging from the New York showing the costume is the biggest item on the fall scene.

Coats, baby overcoats, skirts, dresses—everything has a companion. Fall is the biggest fashion "mix-up" in years.

There are the coats with coordinated dresses. Some are mini-coats, some narrow, longer-than-short coats (new jargon for the '60s length) and many tent coats, small at the top, swinging at the hemline. And the shapes of their companion dresses follow the shapes of the coats—tent with tent, skinny with skinny. Many of the costume coats have fur linings, real or fake.

Three-piece costumes include skirt, jacket and overblouse. And turtlenecks or scarves are favorite neckline treatments.

Both fabrics and colors get double play. Jersey, for example, is teamed with soft tweed, wool with suede or vinyl, gray flannel with chiffon or crepe and cashmere with tweed.

Favorite fabrics are gabardine, covert, Shetland, melton and wool crepe. Color combos are eye-catching. Shocking pink or mauve pick up smoky brown, navy provides background for red or orange. You will see plum with chartreuse, green with turquoise or pink, lavender with gray and purple with orange. There are also the softer teams of camel and gray and black and white.

Giant plaid coats top solid color dresses that pick up a shade in the plaid. And big, bold stripes had good play, too.

It's definitely the year of the costume. Hardly anything this season stands alone. Plus for Palatability. Roasts and steaks are much better tasting if they're cooked by slow, rather than fast heat penetration. Fast cooking will often char the outside of the meat while the inside remains underdone. Then, if you should want to cook the roast or steak to the proper degree of doneness, the outside will be too overcooked for palatability.

Costumes are ideal for daytime wear for fall. The shirt-turquoise wool crepe costume with long overblouse and simple dress terminating in a swirl of pleats. The important plaid in smashing colors (center) by Morton

A Unique Experiment in Ohio

By GEORGE De LONG
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

BEREA, Ohio—(NEA)—With the dedication of their profession, the staff of a unique educational facility grinds away at rehabilitating college flunkouts who want another chance at earning a degree.

With "Learning to Learn" as their creed, three officials of Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea founded the nonprofit Educational Development Center three years ago in a home close to campus.

Idea for the center was conceived from statistics showing that some 400,000 students drop out of college annually because of poor grades. Dr. Robert W. Pitcher, B-W vice president and former head of the college psychology department who directs EDC, says: "We realized when we started that we faced a monumental task, but we had faith that the center's concepts could aid these young people in overcoming their difficulties."

"Someone had to take the initiative in restoring the confidence of these students who, through one circumstance or a combination of them, failed in their initial jousts with college life. With a college education today's desired norm, society can ill-afford the loss of this potential."

Sharing the center's leadership with Pitcher are Dr. Alfred B. Bonds, college president, and Dr. Fred E. Harris, vice president for academic affairs. The staff includes part-time instructors, some of them professors' wives.

The center opened in 1964 with five students. Since then pleas for this educational lifeline have been received from 49 states and 14 foreign countries, mostly referrals by college deans favorably impressed by the EDC program.

Any student is eligible who has difficulty in studies, college flunkouts or any student now in college performing below potential.

Foremost problem of the flunkout, Pitcher believes, is the transition from high school to college. Tests we administer show that insufficient language fluency is another cause of poor academic performance. Then, heart of the student's problem, analyze his weaknesses and design courses of action to overcome them.

Two girls take diagnostic test of English usage. Girl on left, now back in Otterbein College, is earning a 2.6 rating.

"Our success has been rewarding. Records show that students averaging 1.41 (D-) in college work before they came to the center now are averaging 2.57 (C-) in their renewed attempts at college work. Approximately 100 EDC graduates '90 per cent' are back in college, almost all of them averaging C or better.

"Understand," Pitcher stresses, "this is a no-nonsense, do-it-or-get-out regimen, no nagging to turn in assignments on time. Students work eight hours a day, five days a week for 10 weeks. They moan and groan about the work load, but most stick with it and win out."

To break the language fluency barrier, EDC employs a sophisticated language laboratory equipped with tape recorders, overhead projectors, reading pacers. Through these tools are fed programs of study tailored to each student's needs.

Applicants must undergo a three-day diagnostic test to identify their present abilities and those which need development. This searching program parallels the medical clinic idea in which the patient is examined by a corps of specialists. In these three days pinpoint the causes for flunking, and get to the heart of the problem.

A complete medical evaluation of test results by Pitcher and his assistant, William Behr, is followed by a recommended course of action in a report, session with family and student, and a series of taped lessons and sound charts for EDC's program.

Upon successful completion of prescribed work, EDC counsels on readmission to college and keeps a watchful eye on his new venture into academic life. To forestall flunking out, EDC this summer conducted federally sponsored Upward Bound projects at Philander Smith College, Arkansas, and in Cleveland, Ohio. The center developed a special curriculum of enrichment material and put culturally deprived high school youths through 8-week courses to prepare them for college work ahead.

To meet the increasing demands for its services, plans are under way not only for expansion of the Berea plant but also the creation of similar centers in other parts of the country as funds become available.

Food for Americans

School Time Ripe For Morning Meal

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Back-to-school September should be Better Breakfast Month, according to doctors, nutritionists, dietitians, teachers and wise parents. Teen-agers, the Mod set, and other people who know better skip breakfast and hurry off, hoping that coffee and a cigarette will do the trick. "It won't," stresses Dr. Frederick J. Stare of Harvard's Department of Nutrition.

For lots of people—of all ages—going without breakfast means they may not eat from nine the night before to noon the next day. Harvard and Army Quartermaster Corps studies indicate that this impairs muscular ability, perception and resistance to fatigue.

An adequate breakfast should supply about one-fourth of the day's essential nutrients. In our hurry-hurry culture, breakfast skipping has become a serious over-all health problem. Older children and teen-agers are the greatest skippers, particularly teen-age girls.

With the re-opening of schools, lure young people back to the habit of breakfast. A nutritionally acceptable breakfast, can consist of fruit, preferably citrus, cereal with milk, buttered bread, toast or roll, and a glass of milk.

Civil Rights Bill Awaits the Election

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The near-certainty that the Senate will not vote before the November elections on the hotly disputed open housing section of the civil rights bill is bringing quiet sighs of relief from some senators up for re-election.

As matters stand, the Democratic leadership is likely to have to put the House-passed bill on the shelf after a couple of weeks of snail-paced filibustering by its opponents. Even if the measure is revived later, it would be in a postelection session.

In two days of maneuvering, supporters of the legislation have not been able to keep enough senators on hand to transact business. After a 75-minute call of the roll produced the required 51 Wednesday, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., managed to get in a motion to take up the bill.

But the Senate quickly turned to a $3.5-billion foreign aid authorization. After it sent that bill along to President Johnson by a 33-25 vote, the quorum vanished. When an hour's effort failed to get enough members back, Hart gave up and moved for adjournment for the day.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield called the outcome "a disgraceful exhibition of doing nothing." He said opponents and proponents of the bill were equally guilty of absenting themselves. "Unfortunately," he said, "you've got a lot of them campaigning and that seems to be taking precedence."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who had waited patiently to assail the housing provision but didn't get to speak, told reporters the absentee list indicated "a cyclonic enthusiasm for something other than this bill."

Mansfield said with Dirksen opposing it, the measure's chance of ever becoming law is just about zero.

Without the backing of Dirksen and GOP members who follow his line, the bill's proponents can't muster the necessary two-thirds majority to cut off debate — once it actually starts — and get it out of any of its provisions.

Dirksen contends the partial ban on racial discrimination in the sale and rental of housing is unconstitutional.

Dirksen isn't a candidate for re-election this year but some senators who are running are not nearly as certain as he seems to be about which way the political wind is blowing.

For some who court the Negro vote, there is the disturbing problem of white backlash against Negro demonstrations aimed at breaking down housing discrimination.

Says Taxes Come Back in U.S. Grants

By AL SANDNER

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — High federal taxes, coming back as grants-in-aid, are threatening the independence of American cities, says Michigan Gov. George Romney.

He says some system of sharing federal revenues is needed.

The recent testimony of mayors in Washington, where they outlined their problems at a U.S. Senate subcommittee hearing on municipal needs, provided a vivid illustration of the trend, Romney said in an interview Wednesday. Pleas were based on the need for financial aid.

Their testimony before the subcommittee "made it clear that either the federal government is going to undertake the fiscal reform necessary to enable the states to carry out their functions (including financial assistance to their political subdivisions), or we will continue on the road we're already on — leading to a loss of state and local autonomy," Romney said.

He touched on the same subject at a speech later in the day at a convention of the Michigan Municipal League in Detroit.

Red China's Actions Indicate Moscow Is Considered Threat

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent
Red China's actions and words these days suggest that the men now emerging at the top of the heap in Peking consider Moscow a threat to their chances of nailing down and insuring their power.

Foreign Minister Chin Yi's statement in Peking about the possibility of talks with the United States on Viet Nam and the statement by the Chinese ambassador in Warsaw, full of belligerence toward the Americans, are not so contradictory as they might seem.

It all seems to mean that the Peking regime does not want to get involved in war with the United States. But it badly needs an outside enemy to excuse internal measures. It could hardly do without the United States as an enemy now and apparently wants to add the Soviet Union to its list of foes for good measure.

Whoever controls Red China now — and Defense Minister Lin Biao seems to be calling the shots — the regime seems hell-bent for collision with Moscow. Meanwhile, around the Red world, everybody is getting into the act. Peking may be happily anticipating an all-Communist donnybrook of global proportions.

Communist parties in Europe now comment freely, frequently and acidly on Red Chinese antics. At the same time, all display worry that a contagion which has swept China might spread beyond its borders and prove, as the Bulgarian party said, "most dangerous" to Communist world aims.

The Bulgarian party, faithful echo of Moscow, warns that China's purge, which Peking calls "the great proletarian cultural revolution," might spread to other countries and "create difficulties in uniting the people's masses." In Communist language, "people's masses" means Communist parties. The statement reflects Moscow's worry that more splintering and confusion are in prospect under the hammer blows from Peking.

Magazine Ban at Pine Bluff Ruled Illegal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A court order banning eight magazines from Pine Bluff newsstands is unconstitutional, attorneys for seven of the magazines say in a brief in the U.S. Supreme Court.

The state attorney general's office, which is defending the state in the appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, received a copy of the publications' brief Wednesday.

Chancellor Joseph Morrison of Pine Bluff issued an injunction in 1964 ordering the magazines removed from newsstands on the grounds that they were obscene. He acted under a 1961 Arkansas law. The state Supreme Court upheld the order.

The magazines' attorneys argued that that order is unconstitutional because it restrains the interstate dissemination of literature.

Act 261 of 1961 reached out beyond state lines and attempted to control the composition and publication of writings, they argued in the brief. They said the law gives a county the power to imprison a non-resident publisher who publishes in accordance with the standards of his home state.

The seven magazines appealing the court order are Gent, Swank, Bachelor, Cavalade, Gentleman, Ace and Sir, Modern Man also was involved in the Pine Bluff ban.

The next step in the appeal procedure is for the attorney general's office to submit its brief to the U.S. Supreme Court.

POLITICS-GOVERNMENT

The near certainty that the Senate will not vote before the November elections on the open housing section of the civil rights bill relieves some senators.

Frank D. O'Connor, the Democratic nominee for New York governor, faces vote-cutting opposition from Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the Liberal party candidate. The split is seen aiding Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's re-election drive.

Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan says high federal taxes, coming back as grants-in-aid, threaten the independence of American cities.

Mixed Up Construction Requires $200 Million Over First Estimates

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The expanding war has so altered initial estimates of U.S. construction programs in Viet Nam that another $200 million is required to complete projects already on the books, U.S. Navy officials said today.

The money is needed to finance projects currently being built by the RMK-BRJ Consortium, a group of U.S. construction companies that holds contracts worth $800 million.

The U.S. Navy supervises the construction.

One example of the expanding costs is improvement of the Saigon port, where the initial estimate of $10 million has been upped to $50 million. The increase was caused by demands for more wharf space to handle the vastly increased sea traffic to Viet Nam from the United States.

The Department of Defense is considering increased allocations to enable completion of current projects.

The deputy officer in charge of construction, U.S. Navy Capt. W. R. Rogers, said today: "This is not a critical situation. Building is going ahead all over Viet Nam by our civilian contractors. This money is needed because the needs of our customers, the Army, Navy and Air Force, have expanded."

RMK-BRJ operates on a cost-plus basis ranging from 1.7 to 2.46 per cent of the eventual cost of a project. It is building jet airfields, deepwater ports, warehouses, power plants, ammunition storage depots, troop cantonments, hospitals and a wide variety of other projects.

At its peak, the combine's work force numbered 51,700, the largest force ever assembled for an American construction program.

While some projects are costing more because of the expanding war, the over-all programming in Viet Nam is less

Police Keep Order in Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — While police maintained an alert against further rioting by Negroes, city officials and white and Negro community leaders sought today to pinpoint causes and prevent a recurrence.

Ten Negroes were jailed Wednesday after police broke up a leaflet-distribution gathering at the spot where several hours of violence began the day before, shattering the city's image of racial harmony.

But the day was primarily one of meetings. A major point of discussion was what to do about Stokely Carmichael and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which he heads.

"Atlanta is not by far a perfect city but it is too great to be destroyed by simple-minded bigotry," said the Rev. Samuel Williams, local president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He spoke after a two-hour meeting of the Atlanta summit conference, a body of Negro leaders from various organizations.

Many of those present were critical of the SNCC role in the rock-and-bottle-throwing, burning and overturning of vehicles which erupted Tuesday after an Atlanta policeman shot a fleeing Negro man, now hospitalized in fair condition.

"Our main concern here is Stokely Carmichael," said the Rev. Otis Smith, "whether or not we have a riot is up to him."

Carmichael was in the area before the rioting began but was not seen there later. Two SNCC members, William Ware and Bobby Vance Walton, 20, were arrested during the disturbance on charges of inciting to riot.

Replying to the criticism, Carmichael said, "SNCC did not and could not start a rebellion." "This was started by an act," he said in a statement to a radio station (WAOX), "a white policeman shooting down a black man in a black community."

at this point than envisaged a year ago, U.S. Navy officials said. For this reason, RMK-BRJ is geared up for more work than they are getting.

Four companies make up RMK-BRJ — Raymond International Inc. of New York, Morrison-Knudson of Boise, Idaho, Brown and Root of Houston, Tex., and the J.A. Jones Construction Co. of Charlotte, N.C.

The consortium has started laying off workers, including Americans. Officials from the consortium are known to be unhappy because some contracts they feel they could have handled cheaper have gone to other contractors.

Convict Says He Got Strap Twice in Hour

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Another Arkansas convict has alleged in a hand-written petition to U.S. District Court that he was whipped with a strap for not doing enough work.

Lyle Edward Ernst Jr., 24, of Little Rock, asked the court to order restraints on the use of the leather strap to punish prisoners.

Ernst said he received 10 strokes twice in the space of an hour on July 20. Both times he said he was told to lower his trousers and lie on the floor for the whippings.

The convict identified E. G. Mays as the warden who whipped him. Mays was one of three Tucker Prison Farm wardens fired last week by Gov. Orval Faubus in the wake of a state Police investigation which Faubus said turned up instances of extortions of convicts, a failure to observe rules for punishment of prisoners and drinking in the prison.

Ernst signed the petition Aug. 29, three days before the Tucker shakeup.

It was referred to U.S. District Judge Gordon Young for consideration before being filed because it was not accompanied by a filing fee.

Young ordered the petition filed Wednesday and told the state attorney general's office to answer it within 15 days.

Cong Kills 6 in Attacks to Scare Voters

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong terrorists killed at least six persons and injured more than 20 today in scattered attacks aimed at wrecking election machinery and frightening as many as possible of South Viet Nam's five million voters from the polls Sunday.

While U.S. officials sought to determine whether saboteurs or a short circuit might have caused a million-dollar fire that destroyed one American military warehouse and damaged another before dawn, the Viet Cong tried again to block the main shipping channel to Saigon.

A Communist mine exploded harmlessly in the river channel about 40 yards from a U.S. Navy minesweeper.

Highlighting intertwined military and political developments:

— Premier Nguyen Ky, who in a roundabout discourse with newsmen, put himself back in the list of possible candidates for the presidency in the creation of a new government due next year. He said in effect he was reconsidering his decision to return to military duty and might run because of the refusal of his first choice, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, to become a candidate. Thieu is chief of state in the present military regime.

— The most savage in a series of operations by Communist agents to sabotage the election Sunday of a 117-member Constituent Assembly was staged at a village southwest of Saigon. A government spokesman said the Communist agents killed a government security agent, his wife and three children.

— About 300 Buddhist monks and nuns of a militant minority opposing the government and the election launched a three-day fast to promote a boycott of the polls. Loudspeakers at a Saigon pagoda proclaimed: "A vote on Sunday will be a vote against Viet Nam."

— While air squadrons carried the main load of allied offensive operations, lessened ground activity was reflected in a reduction of casualties on both sides last week from the week of Aug. 21-27. The U.S. Command announced 74 Americans were killed in combat, 570 wounded and 10 missing or captured. Over all, allied deaths were listed as 187, against 885 enemy dead.

— In Tokyo, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said he believed the Communists have lost more than 100,000 men from combat, disease and desertion this year. Replacements "by the painfully slow methods of infiltration under air attack must present a very serious problem to the enemy leaders," the retired chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and former ambassador to Saigon said in a luncheon address. He said, however, more U.S. troops and more air strikes will be needed to bring North Viet Nam to terms.

— U.S. Navy officials said expanding demands of the war have so altered original estimates

Figures and Facts on New Launching

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Here are the facts and figures about Friday's Gemini 11 launching:

Astronauts — Navy Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr. and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr., both 36.

Launch times — Atlas to boost Agena at 8:48 a.m., Titan 2 to lift Gemini 11 at 10:25 a.m.

Main Goals — Catch and hook up with Agena during first orbit; reach record altitude of 863 miles; 107-minute space walk by Gordon; attempt at flying formation by linking Gemini and Agena together at opposite ends of a 100-foot cord, and world's first automatic re-entry.

Length of flight — 71 hours, 8 minutes.

Make Stuffed Steak Rich Dish

DOUBLE NOURISHMENT is provided by vegetable-stuffed steak.

As food prices increase, lead that has been enriched with B vitamins and iron becomes more important in the homemaker's fight to maintain nutritional standards. Don't waste a crumb of enriched bread. Use it with her ingredients to add nourishment at low cost.

VEGETABLE STUFFED STEAKS

- (Serves 6-8)
- 2 (1 pound) flank or round steaks, 1/2-inch thick
  - 2 tablespoons shortening
  - 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
  - 2 (10-ounce) packages frozen mixed vegetables
  - 4 teaspoon celery salt
  - 4 teaspoon pepper
  - 2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 quart enriched soft bread crumbs
  - 1 (1 lb., 2 oz.) can tomato juice
  - 1 beef bouillon cube
  - 1 cup Burgundy or lemon juice

Score steaks on one side in side diamond shapes to sever long fibers. Melt shortening in a small skillet; add onion and saute until tender. Cook vegetables in salted water; drain. Combine sauteed onion and fat, cooked vegetables, celery salt, pepper, salt and soft bread crumbs. Lay steaks flat on work space so scored parts face down. Place half of stuffing on each piece of steak, then roll up, jelly roll fashion, tightly as possible. Turn seam sides up and fasten them in place with skewers. Draw openings together tightly by lacing the skewers together with heavy cord; tie knots. Place stuffed steaks in deep roasting pan, seam sides up. Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Combine tomato juice and beef bouillon cube, heating it so cube will melt; add Burgundy. Pour sauce over meat; cover and bake one and a half hours, pouring sauce over meat occasionally. Uncover and continue baking another half hour, basting meat every ten minutes. To serve: Untie and slice.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

TV TIME IS HERE AGAIN—Rolling across your television screens this season, there'll be lots more of the same—mysteries, movies, westerns—shined up with more razzle-dazzle and with more shows in color. The networks will increase adventure-mystery, westerns and variety shows, but cut down on comedy. One other downtown continues—teen musicals are just about out. "Hullabaloo," on the air in summer reruns, goes off this fall. An exception is Dick Clark's "American Bandstand"—it'll beat steadily on. This season, one show in three will be new. Here's a smorgasbord report on them—The Girl From U.N.C.L.E. will out-derring-do The Man From U.N.C.L.E. if she can. The Green Hornet will smash down the same track as Batman. Tree-swinging Tarzan will swing back on the screens, but with no Jane on the show. . . . and The Monkees, a zany rock'n'roll quartet will flip through misadventures more offbeat than the Beatles', in a new free-wheeling comedy. Dial outside this big-time television and there are your programs for the new season on local stations. . . . and the daytime shows. . . . Some with more serious television fare—for instance, College Bowl, battle of intercollegiate brains, hits its ninth consecutive year this fall. . . . and It's Academic, the high school brain-buster, will continue as a late afternoon program.

YOUR EYES AND YOU—Eyes—about 50 million of them—will be the busiest sense teen-agers put to work this school and job year. They're valuable—eyes bring you 80 per cent of your knowledge, guide 90 per cent of your physical action. Human eyes are superior—for example, animals usually see only things that are moving, you see them moving or standing still. . . . you see close-up things in print or faraway hills, animals only see one or the other. Of course, some animals, like cats, opossums and raccoons, see 10 to 20 times better in the dark than you do. . . . but, then, most animals are color blind (except monkeys and apes). More boys are color blind—girls who like to use a lot of cosmetics may sometimes be wasting it. . . . because eight boys out of 100 are color blind (only one girl is), and their chief confusion is they can't tell red from green. Blinking and crying—both are natural. Blinking is a way you rest your eyes every 10 or 15 seconds, with a temporary blindness. . . . when you cry you're the only animal that does (honest, this is what scientists say!) except for bears who have been known to shed real tears of grief. So take good care of your eyes.

GIRLS' EYES AND GUYS—It's nothing new that girls use their eyes for other purposes than to see with. But something new is the way girls have moved into the use of eye make-up. Three-quarters in the older brackets now use mascara, half of them eyeliner, eyebrow pencil and eye shadow, says a new survey. In fact, the drug industry gives young people the major credit for doubling the national sales of all these eye beauty products over the last five years. This means—a lot more girls' eyes will be lit up for boys than ever before—with the use of make-up!

Wheeling it

By BOB COCHNAR
and DAVE BURGIN

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Beach Boys put it in song with their hit record, "Little Old Lady From Pasadena."

The song, you may recall, is about a Southern California grandmother who popped along the freeways in a car that not only had plenty of goodies under the hood, it was sleek, too.

Granny had gone custom, a rebirth of the post World War II kick, so has the rest of the country. But this time the art of customizing, according to the Beach Boys, isn't going to be exclusive to the younger set.

"In fact," reports our West Coast correspondent Dick Kleiner, "Southern Californians have taken to customizing their automobiles so much that George Barris' custom City in North Hollywood just finished customizing somebody's stagecoach."

The first custom craze began to wane in the mid-fifties when Detroit turned its attention to speed and horsepower.

That's when drag racing got off the line. Customizing went on such as "lowered," "chopped," "channeled" and "raked," got buried in talk about axle ratios, stroke and so on.

Now, once again, car-conscious California is leading in making automobiles individual.

Here's Dick Kleiner's report:

Today, you can even customize-it-yourself, to a degree. Through mail-order firms which do an estimated $50 million-a-year business, you can—and Californians do—order "bolt-ons" (larger wheels, fender skirts, air scoops, decorative bumpers) and have a unique custom job of your own in a matter of hours.

But for a really wild set of wheels, you have to go to somebody like George Barris.

He'll build you a car from the tread up, as he has done for Bobby Darin. Provided you've got the $50,000, of course. But Barris can do a $50 job, too.

People come to him for all kinds of customizing, like the rancher who wanted his antique stagecoach jazzed up. Would you believe a stagecoach with disc brakes, ball-bearing wheels and inside a refrigerator and a stereo system? Wells Fargo passengers should've had it so good!

Much of Barris' work today is for movies and television. Barris threw the Batmobile together in three weeks. He also built the Green Hornet's new Black Beauty and the "his and hers" customized Mustangs which singers Sonny and Cher drive.

Some of Barris' zanier creations were seen on the CBS special, Wonderful World of Wheels. On Barris' drawing board now, for example, is a carrot-shaped car which will be used to promote Bugs Bunny. He also does special work for Detroit manufacturers. In one of his sheds is a Ford dream job which converts from fastback to square back at the flick of a switch.

Barris' work, especially in the last couple of years, has spurred the new interest in customizing. He sees variations of his ideas all over the country.

And it's not just young

FOR SONNY AND CHER, it's "His and Her" Mustangs. Customizer George Barris fashioned standard Mustangs into something special—at a special price, too.

people who are impressed with these individual styles. Barris points out that he's now putting a few doodads on a Rolls Royce, owned by a man named Elvis Presley, who's 30.

SPINOFFS: Word is Ford Motor Co. is about to get back into stock car racing, this time through the Lincoln-Mercury Division.

It hasn't been announced yet but Ford isn't denying it.

The company apparently wants to boost sales by capitalizing on all that free publicity in the national racing boom. . . . From the country of Jordan comes a nice compliment for the Chrysler Corp. Seems Jordanians favor Chryslers, Dodges and Plymouths because the suspension systems hold up better than other makes on Jordan's non-roads.

Solution to Leftovers Bits of leftover ham, Canadian-style bacon, pork sausage links or patties and bacon may be added to the following dishes for meaty deliciousness: macaroni and cheese casseroles, scalloped or au gratin potatoes, buttered noodles or creamed vegetables.

Beef patties leftover from grilling or meat loaves may be sliced for cold sandwiches with mayonnaise and blue cheese, mustard or chili butter or hot barbecue sauce.

When not used for sandwiches, let them add flavor to quickly heated vegetable soups.

Minor Furniture Woes Can Be Easily Repaired

By MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Table legs that wobble, chairs that creak, bed slats that fall out—these are all normal problems with furniture as it grows old.

Most of the time these are minor troubles, easily remedied. Repairing is always worth a try before rushing out to buy replacements.

It is important to make repairs early. One weak spot or break leads to others until the piece is beyond repair.

The most common failure in a piece of furniture is glue joints working loose. You will notice that this sort of trouble occurs soonest in furniture too close to radiators and registers. Heat and moisture will weaken joints.

Surfaces to be glued should be thoroughly cleaned of any old glue. The presence of any old glue will prevent the surfaces from adhering properly.

Sand the surfaces and coat each lightly with a thin film of glue made for holding wood. An excess of glue will only weaken the joint.

Apply Pressure Pressure must be applied to the joint until it is thoroughly dry. If ordinary clamps are too awkward to use, try wrapping the glued joint with string. Insert a piece of scrap wood under the string and twist it, tourniquet-like, to exert maximum pressure.

If clamping will not work, then use bricks, blocks, books or similar objects to apply weight and pressure.

A chair rung that is loose on one side need not be pulled free from the other. Clean and re-glue the weak end only. Where sanding is difficult, remove the old glue with vinegar.

The rung may have worn or shrunk so that the fit is now too loose to hold. Increase the size of it so that the fit is tight. Slitting the end and inserting a wood wedge is one way. A coat of glue followed by a winding of thread is another. You can purchase metal fasteners for such a situation. They fit on one side of the rung, have metal barbs so that they cannot pull loose.

Strengthen Joints Joints in old furniture can be made considerably stronger by using angle irons or wooden wedges. These can be inserted in corners of the underside of tables and chairs. A bracing block can be made from a scrap of wood. Use a triangular piece with a 90-degree angle fitting in the corner. Glue and secure with wood screws, long enough to enter the furniture but not so long they will go through.

A chair rung may break off at the narrow end where it enters the leg. Drill a hole in the end of the rung and in the piece that remains in the leg. This should be just big enough to accept a piece of dowel. Cut to length, glue and insert.

Beds that are old or have been taken apart and re-assembled frequently to move around can develop trouble.

If slats fall the small rails on which they rest may not be secure. Additional screws will remedy this. The slats may be too short. Cut longer ones. Make them a quarter-inch less than the distance between the rails.

Drawers that stick can be damaged if forced. Rub edges with paraffin. Do not plane edges if the sticking is during warm, humid weather. The sticking is due to the swelling of the wood. A light bulb burning inside the drawer will dry out the wood. Keep the drawer partially open and do not rest the bulb on the wood.

During the winter, if the paraffin does not work, sand or plane the edges slightly, then seal with shellac.

Hints to Lure Extra Fun From Portable Radio

Compact as your compact, pretty as your purse, and small enough to go everywhere with you, portable radios are being styled with the ladies in mind. This year portables range from a golf ball to a teddy bear with new approaches to color and size—new power and range and the accent is on entertainment and also keeping close to the world whether you're working or relaxing.

According to industry estimates there are more than 100 million transistor radios in the nation today. Battery engineers offer five suggestions to portable radio enthusiasts:

1. Don't try to break the sound barrier. In a transistor set batteries will last longer if you keep the volume down.

2. Even the tiniest transistor radio can take a lot of punishment but why take chances? Keep it clean, don't jar it unnecessarily and when you go to the beach, slip it into a plastic bag to prevent possible damage from water and sand.

3. To get rid of electrical noise in the volume control, twist the knob forward and back a number of times. You're actually rubbing it clean.

4. Remove batteries as soon as they no longer power the radio.

5. There are several hundred different types and sizes of batteries that power portable radios. Find out which your set requires (the information is on the inside panel) and always keep a spare set of fresh batteries on hand. To be certain the battery you buy is the right one, remove the old battery and take it with you to the store.

Toasting got its name from the fact that bits of toast often were floated in a man's drink.

A Mad Breakfast for a Mod

Girls' skirts may go more mini and boys locks longer while parents fume. But one fact won't change—teen-agers who make a habit of skipping breakfast are in for a bad time. Yes, even though they sport Carnaby Street garb.

In other words, clothes don't make the breakfast, but breakfast helps make the man. Far-out diets, such as a candy bar and cup of coffee on the way to class, or nibbling chips in the lecture hall may be thefad, but it isn't breakfast. Calories are there, yes, but not the needed other nutrients. Nutritionists and doctors cite poor nutrition as one reason why so many teenagers are in poor physical condition.

To the Mods in your household, breakfast skippers without a cause, offer an off-beat tempter—Carnaby Street Breakfast—pancakes sprinkled with cheese and rolled round a hot frankfurter. It's an early morning stopper, and rich with protein flakes. Pour batter about 1/4 cup for each pancake onto heated griddle. Bake until edges are dry and top is bubbly. Turn and bake second side. Fill with desired filling roll up or fold in half. Yield 10 pancakes about 5-inch diameter.

CHEESE AND MEAT FILLING

Combine 1 cup chopped cooked ham or wieners and 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese. Sprinkle over hot pancakes and roll or fold pancake in half. Yield Enough filling for 10 pancakes.

CHEESE & LUNKS FILLING

Sprinkle 1/2 cup pancake with 1/2 cup cheddar cheese, top with 1/2 cup water and roll up. Repeat as many times as desired.
